Education at the OECD, International and Scottish Perspectives: David Istance, Visiting Professor, School of Education, University of Strathclyde

This informal seminar will provide an overview of recent work on education at the Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD) and provide opportunities for students and staff to quiz a veteran education policy analyst, who was a lead author of “Improving Schools in Scotland: An OECD Perspective”.

David Istance is a former senior analyst in the OECD’s Education and Skills Directorate, a visiting professor in the School of Education at the University of Strathclyde and a Non-resident Senior Fellow, Brookings Institute, Washington DC.
